The following references will be used: TR for the official hearing transcript, ALJ EX for an exhibit offered by this Administrative Law Judge, CX for a Claimant's exhibit, DX for a Director's exhibit and RX for an exhibit offered by the Employer/Carrier. This decision is being rendered after having given full consideration to the entire record.

Post-hearing evidence has been admitted as:

2. Decedent and the Employer were in an employee-employer relationship from March 8, 1966 through December 16, 1966.

3. On January 12, 1999, Decedent suffered an injury in the course and scope of his employment.

4. Decedent gave the Employer notice of the injury in a timely manner.

5. Decedent filed a timely claim for compensation on or about February 19, 1999 and the Employer filed a timely notice of controversion.

6. The parties attended an informal conference on June 24, 1999.

7. The applicable average weekly wage is $517.93.

8. The Employer has paid no benefits herein.

The unresolved issues in this proceeding are:

2. Causal relationship between Decedent's pleural malignant mesothelioma and his maritime employment.

3. Entitlement to benefits by the Decedent and interest on any past due benefits.

4. Entitlement to medical benefits by the Decedent.

Summary of the Evidence

George F. Moulton, Jr. ("Decedent" herein), who was born on February 7, 1943 and who had a high school education and an employment history primarily of manual labor, began working on March 8, 1966 “as a shipfitters’ apprentice” at the Bath, Maine shipyard of the Bath Iron Works Corporation (“Employer”), a maritime facility adjacent to the navigable water of the Kennebec River where the Employer builds, repairs and overhauls vessels. “As an apprentice (Decedent) worked in the assembly building, on the ways and aboard ships, where (he) trained around all trades, including pipecoverers, welders and other employees who regularly handled and used asbestos insulating products in the course of their jobs. (Decedent) cannot recall specifics about (his) exposure at that time but (knew) that asbestos was present in the workplace where (he) was performing (his) apprenticeship duties.” He did not wear a respirator or any other type of protective breathing device at the shipyard. (CX 6 at 16-19, CX 5 at 11-15)

The parties deposed Decedent on June 3, 1999 (CX 7) and Decedent, who served honorably in the U.S. Army from 1961 until late 1965 and who worked at the Employer’s shipyard from March 8, 1966 through December 16, 1966 (CX 5), testified that he was daily exposed to and inhaled asbestos dust and fibers as he worked in close proximity to the pipe coverers who were cutting and applying asbestos as insulation around the steam pipes, the hot water pipes and the boilers on the boats, that the cutting and application of asbestos caused asbestos dust and fibers to float around the ambient air of the work environment to such an extent that the atmosphere in the area was “(e)xtremely hazy, smoky, contaminated” and he had “absolutely no choice” or way to avoid such exposure. He left the shipyard on December 16, 1966 because of a labor dispute and the hourly wage being paid to an apprentice. He went to work as a machinist for South Portland Engineering Company, a firm later acquired by the General Electric Company and which made various products for a number of industries. He worked for this company until 1982 and during his years there he was exposed to asbestos. He worked for several other companies and his last employment was on December 23, 1998. He worked an average of forty (40) hours per week in the inspection department of Eagle Industries, a company manufacturing switching gear, chassis and other such products for the computer and telephone industries. (CX 6, CX 7 at 4-10, 17-21, 24-27)

Decedent’s breathing problems began in July or August of 1998 and in October of 1998 he went to his family physician, Dr. George Gardner, and he was referred to Dr. McArdle, a lung specialist. Various tests were performed and malignant mesothelioma was diagnosed on December 29, 1998, a terminal disease, and the doctor advised him that he “had months to live, maybe a year,” and he referred Decedent to the Cancer Center in Boston where he was evaluated by Dr. David J. Sugarbaker and Kurt S. Ebrahim, D.O.

Decedent underwent scheduled surgery but the surgery was not completed because the "tumor had progressed sending shadowy lines up (the) pleura and onto (his) thorax." He underwent a course of chemotherapy and this regimen had such severe side effects that Decedent was totally disabled from December 29, 1998. (CX 7 at 11-15, 22-23)

Decedent began smoking in high school and smoked one pack per day until about twenty (20) years ago, or 1979, a smoking history of at least twenty (20) pack years. (CX 7 at 35-36)

Decedent went to see his family doctor on December 15, 1998 for evaluation of a persistent cough and mild wheezing. Two weeks later Decedent was experiencing "upper (right) quadrant pain" and the doctor ordered a chest x-ray for the next day, or December 29, 1998. (CX 10 at 66) He also underwent thoracentesis on that day and that procedure showed a "complete opacification of the right chest, most consistent with a large right pleural effusion." (CX 11 at 70) Additional tests led to a diagnosis of a "(m)alignant right pleural process" (CX 11 at 72) and Decedent was referred to Kurt S. Ebrahim, D.O., and the Maine Medical Cancer Center for an "(o)ncology evaluation for mesothelioma." Decedent was referred to Boston for experimental surgery for the mesothelioma. Decedent agreed to this option. (CX 9 at 48-50)

Decedent was hospitalized at Boston's Brigham and Women's Hospital from March 3, 1999 through April 8, 1999, during which time he underwent bronchoscopy and right pleurectomy and the principal discharge diagnosis was lung cancer. According to Dr. David J. Sugarbaker, Decedent's "scheduled right extrapleural pneumonectomy was aborted secondary to extensive tumor involvement especially around the esophagus" and he "therefore underwent a pleurectomy," as well as "two sessions of intrapleural chemotherapy via the chest tube with cisplatin." (CX 14 at 119-171)

Douglas A. Pohl, M.D., Ph.D., examined Decedent on August 20, 1999 and the doctor, after the usual social and employment history, his review of Decedent's medical records and diagnostic tests and the pulmonary examination, concluded as follows (CX 15):

> In view of the well-established cause and effect relationship between asbestos exposure and mesothelioma, and Mr. Moulton's past occupational exposures to asbestos, it is my opinion, within a reasonable degree of medical certainty, that Mr. Moulton's exposure to asbestos was the cause of his incurable mesothelioma.

As noted above, Decedent passed away on November 29, 1999 and the claim for Death Benefits will be resolved in another proceeding. (CX 17; EX 2)

On the basis of the totality of this closed record[1], I make the following:

Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

This Administrative Law Judge, in arriving at a decision in this matter, is entitled to determine the credibility of the witnesses, to weigh the evidence and draw his own inferences from it, and he is not bound to accept the opinion or theory of any particular medical examiner. Banks v. Chicago Grain Trimmers Association, Inc., 390 U.S. 459 (1968), reh. denied, 391 U.S. 929 (1969); Todd Shipyards v. Donovan, 300 F.2d 741 (5th Cir. 1962); Scott v. Tug Mate, Incorporated, 22 BRBS 164, 165, 167 (1989); Hite v. Dresser Guiberson Pumping, 22 BRBS 87, 91 (1989); Anderson v. Todd Shipyard Corp., 22 BRBS 20, 22 (1989); Hughes v. Bethlehem Steel Corp., 17 BRBS 153 (1985); Seaman v. Jacksonville Shipyard, Inc., 14 BRBS 148.9 (1981); Brandt v. Avondale Shipyards, Inc., 8 BRBS 698 (1978); Sargent v. Matson Terminal, Inc., 8 BRBS 564 (1978).

The Act provides a presumption that a claim comes within its provisions. See 33 U.S.C. §920(a). This Section 20 presumption "applies as much to the nexus between an employee's malady and his employment activities as it does to any other aspect of a claim." Swinton v. J. Frank Kelly, Inc., 554 F.2d 1075 (D.C. Cir. 1976), cert. denied, 429 U.S. 820 (1976). Claimant's uncontradicted credible testimony alone may constitute sufficient proof of physical injury. Golden v. Eller & Co., 8 BRBS 846 (1978), aff'd, 620 F.2d 71 (5th Cir. 1980); Hampton v. Bethlehem Steel Corp., 24 BRBS 141 (1990); Anderson v. Todd Shipyards, supra, at 21; Miranda v. Excavation Construction, Inc., 13 BRBS 882 (1981).

However, this statutory presumption does not dispense with the requirement that a claim of injury must be made in the first instance, nor is it a substitute for the testimony necessary to establish a "prima facie" case. The Supreme Court has held that "[a] prima facie 'claim for compensation,' to which the statutory presumption refers, must at least allege an injury that arose in the course of employment as well as out of employment." United States Indus./Fed. Sheet Metal, Inc., v. Director, Office of Workers' Compensation Programs, U.S. Dep't of Labor, 455 U.S. 608, 615 102 S. Ct. 1318, 14 BRBS 631, 633 (CRT) (1982), rev'g Riley v. U.S. Indus./Fed. Sheet Metal, Inc., 627 F.2d 455 (D.C. Cir. 1980). Moreover, "the mere existence of a physical impairment is plainly insufficient to shift the burden of proof to the employer." Id. The presumption, though, is applicable once claimant establishes that he has sustained an injury, i.e., harm to his body. Preziosi

[1] As Decedent passed away on November 29, 1999 and as the parties deposed the Decedent on June 3, 1999, Claimant was excused from attending the December 13, 1999 hearing. (TR 14)

v. Controlled Industries, 22 BRBS 468, 470 (1989); Brown v. Pacific Dry Dock Industries, 22 BRBS 284, 285 (1989); Trask v. Lockheed Shipbuilding and Construction Company, 17 BRBS 56, 59 (1985); Kelaita v. Triple A. Machine Shop, 13 BRBS 326 (1981).

To establish a prima facie claim for compensation, a claimant need not affirmatively establish a connection between work and harm. Rather, a claimant has the burden of establishing only that (1) the claimant sustained physical harm or pain and (2) an accident occurred in the course of employment, or conditions existed at work, which could have caused the harm or pain. Kier v. Bethlehem Steel Corp., 16 BRBS 128 (1984); Kelaita, supra. Once this prima facie case is established, a presumption is created under Section 20(a) that the employee's injury or death arose out of employment. To rebut the presumption, the party opposing entitlement must present substantial evidence proving the absence of or severing the connection between such harm and employment or working conditions. Parsons Corp. of California v. Director, OWCP, 619 F.2d 38 (9th Cir. 1980); Butler v. District Parking Management Co., 363 F.2d 682 (D.C. Cir. 1966); Ranks v. Bath Iron Works Corp., 22 BRBS 301, 305 (1989); Kier, supra. Once claimant establishes a physical harm and working conditions which could have caused or aggravated the harm or pain the burden shifts to the employer to establish that claimant's condition was not caused or aggravated by his employment. Brown v. Pacific Dry Dock, 22 BRBS 284 (1989); Rajotte v. General Dynamics Corp., 18 BRBS 85 (1986). If the presumption is rebutted, it no longer controls and the record as a whole must be evaluated to determine the issue of causation. Del Vecchio v. Bowers, 296 U.S. 280 (1935); Volpe v. Northeast Marine Terminals, 671 F.2d 697 (2d Cir. 1981); Holmes v. Universal Maritime Serv. Corp., 29 BRBS 18 (1995). In such cases, I must weigh all of the evidence relevant to the causation issue. Sprague v. Director, OWCP, 688 F.2d 862 (1st Cir. 1982); Holmes, supra; MacDonald v. Trailer Marine Transport Corp., 18 BRBS 259 (1986).

In the case sub judice, Claimant alleges that the harm to her husband's bodily frame, i.e., his malignant mesothelioma, resulted from working conditions and/or resulted from his exposure to and inhalation of asbestos at the Employer's shipyard. The Employer has introduced no evidence severing the connection between such harm and Claimant's maritime employment. Thus, Claimant has established a prima facie claim that such harm is a work-related injury, as shall now be discussed.

Injury

The term "injury" means accidental injury or death arising out of and in the course of employment, and such occupational disease or infection as arises naturally out of such employment or as naturally or unavoidably results from such accidental injury. See

33 U.S.C. §902(2); U.S. Industries/Federal Sheet Metal, Inc., et al., v. Director, Office of Workers Compensation Programs, U.S. Department of Labor, 455 U.S. 608, 102 S.Ct. 1312 (1982), rev'g Riley v. U.S. Industries/Federal Sheet Metal, Inc., 627 F.2d 455 (D.C. Cir. 1980). A work-related aggravation of a pre-existing condition is an injury pursuant to Section 2(2) of the Act. Gardner v. Bath Iron Works Corporation, 11 BRBS 556 (1979), aff'd sub nom. Gardner v. Director, OWCP, 640 F.2d 1385 (1st Cir. 1981); Preziosi v. Controlled Industries, 22 BRBS 468 (1989); Januszewicz v. Sun Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company, 22 BRBS 376 (1989) (Decision and Order on Remand); Johnson v. Ingalls Shipbuilding, 22 BRBS 160 (1989); Madrid v. Coast Marine Construction, 22 BRBS 148 (1989). Moreover, the employment-related injury need not be the sole cause, or primary factor, in a disability for compensation purposes. Rather, if an employment-related injury contributes to, combines with or aggravates a pre-existing disease or underlying condition, the entire resultant disability is compensable. Strachan Shipping v. Nash, 782 F.2d 513 (5th Cir. 1986); Independent Stevedore Co. v. O'Leary, 357 F.2d 812 (9th Cir. 1966); Kooley v. Marine Industries Northwest, 22 BRBS 142 (1989); Mijangos v. Avondale Shipyards, Inc., 19 BRBS 15 (1986); Rajotte v. General Dynamics Corp., 18 BRBS 85 (1986). Also, when claimant sustains an injury at work which is followed by the occurrence of a subsequent injury or aggravation outside work, employer is liable for the entire disability if that subsequent injury is the natural and unavoidable consequence or result of the initial work injury. Bludworth Shipyard, Inc. v. Lira, 700 F.2d 1046 (5th Cir. 1983); Mijangos, supra; Hicks v. Pacific Marine & Supply Co., 14 BRBS 549 (1981). The term injury includes the aggravation of a pre-existing non-work-related condition or the combination of work- and non-work-related conditions. Lopez v. Southern Stevedores, 23 BRBS 295 (1990); Care v. WMATA, 21 BRBS 248 (1988).

In occupational disease cases, there is no "injury" until the accumulated effects of the harmful substance manifest themselves and claimant becomes aware, or in the exercise of reasonable diligence or by reason of medical advice should have been aware, of the relationship between the employment, the disease and the death or disability. Travelers Insurance Co. v. Cardillo, 225 F.2d 137 (2d Cir. 1955), cert. denied, 350 U.S. 913 (1955). Thorud v. Brady-Hamilton Stevedore Company, et al., 18 BRBS 232 (1987); Geisler v. Columbia Asbestos, Inc., 14 BRBS 794 (1981). Nor does the Act require that the injury be traceable to a definite time. The fact that claimant's injury occurred gradually over a period of time as a result of continuing exposure to conditions of employment is no bar to a finding of an injury within the meaning of the Act. Bath Iron Works Corp. v. White, 584 F.2d 569 (1st Cir. 1978).

This closed record conclusively establishes, and I so find and conclude, that Decedent's exposure to and inhalation of asbestos dust and fibers while working for the Employer and subsequently for General Electric from 1967 to 1982 directly produced his malignant mesothelioma, that such condition constitutes a work-related disease, that he underwent surgery on December 29, 1998, that his suspected mesthelioma was confirmed on January 12, 1999, that the date of injury for his occupational disease is January 12, 1999, that the Employer had timely notice thereof (CX 1), that the Employer timely controverted Decedent's entitlement to benefits (TR 6) and that he timely filed for benefits (CX 1) once a dispute arose between the parties. In fact, the principal issue is the nature and extent of Decedent's disability, an issue I shall now resolve.

Nature and Extent of Disability

It is axiomatic that disability under the Act is an economic concept based upon a medical foundation. Quick v. Martin, 397 F.2d 644 (D.C. Cir. 1968); Owens v. Traynor, 274 F. Supp. 770 (D.Md. 1967), aff'd, 396 F.2d 783 (4th Cir. 1968), cert. denied, 393 U.S. 962 (1968). Thus, the extent of disability cannot be measured by physical or medical condition alone. Nardella v. Campbell Machine, Inc., 525 F.2d 46 (9th Cir. 1975). Consideration must be given to claimant's age, education, industrial history and the availability of work he can perform after the injury. American Mutual Insurance Company of Boston v. Jones, 426 F.2d 1263 (D.C. Cir. 1970). Even a relatively minor injury may lead to a finding of total disability if it prevents the employee from engaging in the only type of gainful employment for which he is qualified. (Id. at 1266)

Claimant has the burden of proving the nature and extent of his husband's disability without the benefit of the Section 20 presumption. Carroll v. Hanover Bridge Marina, 17 BRBS 176 (1985); Hunigman v. Sun Shipbuilding & Dry Dock Co., 8 BRBS 141 (1978). However, once claimant has established that he is unable to return to his former employment because of a work-related injury or occupational disease, the burden shifts to the employer to demonstrate the availability of suitable alternate employment or realistic job opportunities which claimant is capable of performing and which he could secure if he diligently tried. New Orleans (Gulfwide) Stevedores v. Turner, 661 F.2d 1031 (5th Cir. 1981); Air America v. Director, 597 F.2d 773 (1st Cir. 1979); American Stevedores, Inc. v. Salzano, 538 F.2d 933 (2d Cir. 1976); Preziosi v. Controlled Industries, 22 BRBS 468, 471 (1989); Elliott v. C & P Telephone Co., 16 BRBS 89 (1984). While Claimant generally need not show that he has tried to obtain employment, Shell v. Teledyne Movible Offshore, Inc., 14 BRBS 585 (1981), he bears the burden of demonstrating his willingness to work, Trans-State Dredging v. Benefits Review Board, 731 F.2d 199 (4th Cir. 1984), once suitable alternate employment is shown. Wilson v. Dravo Corporation, 22 BRBS 463, 466 (1989); Royce v. Elrich Construction Company, 17 BRBS 156 (1985).

On the basis of the totality of this closed record, I find and conclude that Claimant has established that her husband could not return to any work on and after December 29, 1998. The burden thus rests upon the Respondents to demonstrate the existence of suitable alternate employment in the area. If the Respondents do not carry this burden, Claimant is entitled to a finding of total disability. American Stevedores, Inc. v. Salzano, 538 F.2d 933 (2d Cir. 1976). Southern v. Farmers Export Company, 17 BRBS 64 (1985). In the case at bar, the Respondents did not submit any evidence as to the availability of suitable alternate employment. See Pilkington v. Sun Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company, 9 BRBS 473 (1978), aff'd on reconsideration after remand, 14 BRBS 119 (1981). See also Bumble Bee Seafoods v. Director, OWCP, 629 F.2d 1327 (9th Cir. 1980). I therefore find Claimant has a total disability.

Decedent's injury has become permanent. A permanent disability is one which has continued for a lengthy period and is of lasting or indefinite duration, as distinguished from one in which recovery merely awaits a normal healing period. General Dynamics Corporation v. Benefits Review Board, 565 F.2d 208 (2d Cir. 1977); Watson v. Gulf Stevedore Corp., 400 F.2d 649 (5th Cir. 1968), cert. denied, 394 U.S. 976 (1969); Seidel v. General Dynamics Corp., 22 BRBS 403, 407 (1989); Stevens v. Lockheed Shipbuilding Co., 22 BRBS 155, 157 (1989); Trask v. Lockheed Shipbuilding and Construction Company, 17 BRBS 56 (1985); Mason v. Bender Welding & Machine Co., 16 BRBS 307, 309 (1984). The traditional approach for determining whether an injury is permanent or temporary is to ascertain the date of "maximum medical improvement." The determination of when maximum medical improvement is reached so that claimant's disability may be said to be permanent is primarily a question of fact based on medical evidence. Lozada v. Director, OWCP, 903 F.2d 168, 23 BRBS 78 (CRT) (2d Cir. 1990); Hite v. Dresser Guiberson Pumping, 22 BRBS 87, 91 (1989); Care v. Washington Metropolitan Area Transit Authority, 21 BRBS 248 (1988); Wayland v. Moore Dry Dock, 21 BRBS 177 (1988); Eckley v. Fibrex and Shipping Company, 21 BRBS 120 (1988); Williams v. General Dynamics Corp., 10 BRBS 915 (1979).

The Benefits Review Board has held that a determination that claimant's disability is temporary or permanent may not be based on a prognosis that claimant's condition may improve and become stationary at some future time. Meecke v. I.S.O. Personnel Support Department, 10 BRBS 670 (1979). The Board has also held that a disability need not be "eternal or everlasting" to be permanent and the possibility of a favorable change does not foreclose a finding of permanent disability. Exxon Corporation v. White, 617 F.2d 292 (5th Cir. 1980), aff'g 9 BRBS 138 (1978). Such future changes may be considered in a Section 22 modification proceeding when and if they occur. Fleetwood v. Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company, 16 BRBS 282 (1984), aff'd, 776 F.2d 1225, 18 BRBS 12 (CRT) (4th Cir. 1985).

Permanent disability has been found where little hope exists of eventual recovery, Air America, Inc. v. Director, OWCP, 597 F.2d 773 (1st Cir. 1979), where claimant has already undergone a large number of treatments over a long period of time, Meecke v. I.S.O. Personnel Support Department, 10 BRBS 670 (1979), even though there is the possibility of favorable change from recommended surgery, and where work within claimant's work restrictions is not available, Bell v. Volpe/Head Construction Co., 11 BRBS 377 (1979), and on the basis of claimant's credible complaints of pain alone. Eller and Co. v. Golden, 620 F.2d 71 (5th Cir. 1980). Furthermore, there is no requirement in the Act that medical testimony be introduced, Ballard v. Newport News Shipbuilding & Dry Dock Co., 8 BRBS 676 (1978); Ruiz v. Universal Maritime Service Corp., 8 BRBS 451 (1978), or that claimant be bedridden to be totally disabled, Watson v. Gulf Stevedore Corp., 400 F.2d 649 (5th Cir. 1968). Moreover, the burden of proof in a temporary total case is the same as in a permanent total case. Bell, supra. See also Walker v. AAF Exchange Service, 5 BRBS 500 (1977); Swan v. George Hyman Construction Corp., 3 BRBS 490 (1976). There is no requirement that claimant undergo vocational rehabilitation testing prior to a finding of permanent total disability, Mendez v. Bernuth Marine Shipping, Inc., 11 BRBS 21 (1979); Perry v. Stan Flowers Company, 8 BRBS 533 (1978), and an award of permanent total disability may be modified based on a change of condition. Watson v. Gulf Stevedore Corp., supra.

An employee is considered permanently disabled if he has any residual disability after reaching maximum medical improvement. Lozada v. General Dynamics Corp., 903 F.2d 168, 23 BRBS 78 (CRT) (2d Cir. 1990); Sinclair v. United Food & Commercial Workers, 13 BRBS 148 (1989); Trask v. Lockheed Shipbuilding & Construction Co., 17 BRBS 56 (1985). A condition is permanent if claimant is no longer undergoing treatment with a view towards improving his condition, Leech v. Service Engineering Co., 15 BRBS 18 (1982), or if his condition has stabilized. Lusby v. Washington Metropolitan Area Transit Authority, 13 BRBS 446 (1981).

The Board has held that an irreversible medical condition is permanent per se. Drake v. General Dynamics Corp., 11 BRBS 288 (1979). Malignant mesothelioma, a fatal disease with no known cure (CX 15), is, in my judgment, such a condition.

On the basis of the totality of the record, I find and conclude that Decedent was permanently and totally disabled from December 29, 1998, when he was forced to discontinue working as a result of his occupational disease. (CX 15)

Interest

Although not specifically authorized in the Act, it has been accepted practice that interest at the rate of six (6) percent per annum is assessed on all past due compensation payments. Avallone v. Todd Shipyards Corp., 10 BRBS 724 (1978). The Benefits Review Board and the Federal Courts have previously upheld interest awards on past due benefits to ensure that the employee receives the full amount of compensation due. Watkins v. Newport News Shipbuilding & Dry Dock Co., 8 BRBS 556 (1978), aff'd in pertinent part and rev'd on other grounds sub nom. Newport News v. Director, OWCP, 594 F.2d 986 (4th Cir. 1979); Santos v. General Dynamics Corp., 22 BRBS 226 (1989); Adams v. Newport News Shipbuilding, 22 BRBS 78 (1989); Smith v. Ingalls Shipbuilding, 22 BRBS 26, 50 (1989); Caudill v. Sea Tac Alaska Shipbuilding, 22 BRBS 10 (1988); Perry v. Carolina Shipping, 20 BRBS 90 (1987); Hoey v. General Dynamics Corp., 17 BRBS 229 (1985). The Board concluded that inflationary trends in our economy have rendered a fixed six percent rate no longer appropriate to further the purpose of making claimant whole, and held that ". . . the fixed six percent rate should be replaced by the rate employed by the United States District Courts under 28 U.S.C. §1961 (1982). This rate is periodically changed to reflect the yield on United States Treasury Bills . . . ." Grant v. Portland Stevedoring Company, 16 BRBS 267, 270 (1984), modified on reconsideration, 17 BRBS 20 (1985). Section 2(m) of Pub. L. 97-258 provided that the above provision would become effective October 1, 1982. This Order incorporates by reference this statute and provides for its specific administrative application by the District Director. The appropriate rate shall be determined as of the filing date of this Decision and Order with the District Director.

Section 14(e)

Claimant is not entitled to an award of additional compensation, pursuant to the provisions of Section 14(e), as the Respondents timely controverted Decedent's entitlement to benefits. (TR 6) Ramos v. Universal Dredging Corporation, 15 BRBS 140, 145 (1982); Garner v. Olin Corp., 11 BRBS 502, 506 (1979).

Medical Expenses

An Employer found liable for the payment of compensation is, pursuant to Section 7(a) of the Act, responsible for those medical expenses reasonably and necessarily incurred as a result of a work-related injury. Perez v. Sea-Land Services, Inc., 8 BRBS 130 (1978). The test is whether or not the treatment is recognized as appropriate by the medical profession for the care and treatment of the injury. Colburn v. General Dynamics Corp., 21 BRBS 219, 22 (1988); Barbour v. Woodward & Lothrop, Inc., 16 BRBS 300 (1984). Entitlement to medical services is never time-barred where a disability is related to a compensable injury. Addison v. Ryan-Walsh Stevedoring Company, 22 BRBS 32, 36 (1989); Mayfield v. Atlantic & Gulf Stevedores, 16 BRBS 228 (1984); Dean v. Marine Terminals Corp., 7 BRBS 234 (1977). Furthermore, an employee's right to select his own physician, pursuant to Section 7(b), is well settled. Bulone v. Universal Terminal and Stevedore Corp., 8 BRBS 515 (1978). Claimant is also entitled to reimbursement for reasonable travel expenses in seeking medical care and treatment for his work-related injury. Tough v. General Dynamics Corporation, 22 BRBS 356 (1989); Gilliam v. The Western Union Telegraph Co., 8 BRBS 278 (1978).

In Shahady v. Atlas Tile & Marble, 13 BRBS 1007 (1981), rev'd on other grounds, 682 F.2d 968 (D.C. Cir. 1982), cert. denied, 459 U.S. 1146, 103 S.Ct. 786 (1983), the Benefits Review Board held that a claimant's entitlement to an initial free choice of a physician under Section 7(b) does not negate the requirement under Section 7(d) that claimant obtain employer's authorization prior to obtaining medical services. Banks v. Bath Iron Works Corp., 22 BRBS 301, 307, 308 (1989); Jackson v. Ingalls Shipbuilding Division, Litton Systems, Inc., 15 BRBS 299 (1983); Beynum v. Washington Metropolitan Area Transit Authority, 14 BRBS 956 (1982). However, where a claimant has been refused treatment by the employer, he need only establish that the treatment he subsequently procures on his own initiative was necessary in order to be entitled to such treatment at the employer's expense. Atlantic & Gulf Stevedores, Inc. v. Neuman, 440 F.2d 908 (5th Cir. 1971); Matthews v. Jeffboat, Inc., 18 BRBS at 189 (1986).

An employer's physician's determination that Claimant is fully recovered is tantamount to a refusal to provide treatment. Slattery Associates, Inc. v. Lloyd, 725 F.2d 780 (D.C. Cir. 1984); Walker v. AAF Exchange Service, 5 BRBS 500 (1977). All necessary medical expenses subsequent to employer's refusal to authorize needed care, including surgical costs and the physician's fee, are recoverable. Roger's Terminal and Shipping Corporation v. Director, OWCP, 784 F.2d 687 (5th Cir. 1986); Anderson v. Todd Shipyards Corp., 22 BRBS 20 (1989); Ballesteros v. Willamette Western Corp., 20 BRBS 184 (1988).

Section 7(d) requires that an attending physician file the appropriate report within ten days of the examination. Unless such failure is excused by the fact-finder for good cause shown in accordance with Section 7(d), claimant may not recover medical costs incurred. Betz v. Arthur Snowden Company, 14 BRBS 805 (1981). See also 20 C.F.R. §702.422. However, the employer must demonstrate actual prejudice by late delivery of the physician's report. Roger's Terminal, supra.

On the basis of the totality of the record, I find and conclude that Claimant has shown good cause, pursuant to Section 7(d). Decedent advised the Employer of his work-related injury on or about February 19, 1999 (CX 1) and the requested appropriate medical care and treatment. However, the Employer and its Carrier did not accept the claim and did not authorize such medical care. Thus, any failure by Claimant to file timely the physician's report is excused for good cause as a futile act and in the interests of justice as the Respondents refused to accept the claim.

Accordingly, the Employer and its Carrier ("Respondents") are responsible for the reasonable and necessary medical care and treatment related to the diagnosis, evaluation and palliative therapy for his occupational disease from December 29, 1998 and until November 29, 1999, subject to the provisions of Section 7 of the Act.

Responsible Employer

The Employer and its Carrier ("Respondents") are responsible for payment of benefits under the rule stated in Travelers Insurance Co. v. Cardillo, 225 F.2d 137 (2d Cir. 1955), cert. denied sub nom. Ira S. Bushey & Sons, Inc. v. Cardillo, 350 U.S. 913 (1955). Under the last employer rule of Cardillo, the employer during the last employment in which the claimant was exposed to injurious stimuli, prior to the date upon which the claimant became aware of the fact that he was suffering from an occupational disease arising naturally out of his employment, should be liable for the full amount of the award. Cardillo, 225 F.2d at 145. See Cordero v. Triple A. Machine Shop, 580 F.2d 1331 (9th Cir. 1978), cert. denied, 440 U.S. 911 (1979); General Dynamics Corporation v. Benefits Review Board, 565 F.2d 208 (2d Cir. 1977). Claimant is not required to demonstrate that a distinct injury or aggravation resulted from this exposure. He need only demonstrate exposure to injurious stimuli. Tisdale v. Owens Corning Fiber Glass Co., 13 BRBS 167 (1981), aff'd mem. sub nom. Tisdale v. Director, OWCP, U.S. Department of Labor, 698 F.2d 1233 (9th Cir. 1982), cert. denied, 462 U.S. 1106, 103 S.Ct. 2454 (1983); Whitlock v. Lockheed Shipbuilding & Construction Co., 12 BRBS 91 (1980). For purposes of determining who is the responsible employer or carrier, the awareness component of the Cardillo test is identical to the awareness requirement of Section 12. Larson v. Jones Oregon Stevedoring Co., 17 BRBS 205 (1985).

The Benefits Review Board has held that minimal exposure to some asbestos, even without distinct aggravation, is sufficient to trigger application of the Cardillo rule. Grace v. Bath Iron Works Corp., 21 BRBS 244 (1988); Lustig v. Todd Shipyards Corp., 20 BRBS 207 (1988); Proffitt v. E.J. Bartells Co., 10 BRBS 435 (1979) (two days' exposure to the injurious stimuli satisfies Cardillo). Compare Todd Pacific Shipyards Corporation v. Director, OWCP, 914 F.2d 1317 (9th Cir. 1990), rev'g Picinich v. Lockheed Shipbuilding, 22 BRBS 289 (1989).

While Decedent was exposed to asbestos at General Electric, a subsequent employer, this Court has no jurisdiction over that company as he was not engaged in maritime employment while working at that company.

Accordingly, Respondents are responsible for the benefits awarded herein.

Attorney's Fee

Claimant’s attorney, having successfully prosecuted this matter, is entitled to a fee assessed against the Employer and Carrier (“Respondents”). Claimant's attorney filed a fee application on April 3, 2000 (CX 18), concerning services rendered and costs incurred in representing Claimant between February 19, 1999 and December 13, 1999. Attorney G. William Higbee seeks a fee of $5,338.96 (including expenses) based on 15.20 hours of attorney time at $175.00 per hour, as well as 6.90 hours of attorney time at $195.00 per hour and 2.50 hours of paralegal time at $55.00 per hour.

In accordance with established practice, I will consider only those services rendered and costs incurred after June 24, 1999, the date of the informal conference. Services rendered prior to this date should be submitted to the District Director for her consideration.

In light of the nature and extent of the excellent legal services rendered to Claimant by her attorney, the amount of compensation obtained for Claimant and the Respondents' lack of comments on the requested fee, I find a legal fee of $5,338.06 (including expenses of $1,195.06) is reasonable and in accordance with the criteria provided in the Act and regulations, 20 C.F.R. §702.132, and is hereby approved. The expenses are approved as reasonable and necessary litigation expenses. My approval of the hourly rates is limited to the factual situation herein and to the firm members identified in the fee petition.

ORDER

Based upon the foregoing Findings of Fact, Conclusions of Law and upon the entire record, I issue the following compensation order. The specific dollar computations of the compensation award shall be administratively performed by the District Director.

It is therefore ORDERED that:

1. Commencing on December 29, 1998, and continuing until November 29, 1999, the Respondents shall pay to the Claimant, as representative of Decedent’s estate, compensation benefits for her deceased husband’s permanent total disability, based upon an average weekly wage of $517.93, such compensation to be computed in accordance with Section 8(a) of the Act.

2. Interest shall be paid by the Respondents on all accrued benefits at the T-bill rate applicable under 28 U.S.C. §1961 (1982), computed from the date each payment was originally due until paid. The appropriate rate shall be determined as of the filing date of this Decision and Order with the District Director.

3. The Respondents shall furnish such reasonable, appropriate and necessary medical care and treatment as the Claimant's work-related injury referenced herein may require between December 29, 1998 and November 29, 1999, subject to the provisions of Section 7 of the Act.

4. The Employer shall pay to Claimant's attorney, G. William Higbee, the sum of $5,338.06 (including expenses) as a reasonable fee for representing Claimant herein before the Office of Administrative Law Judges between February 19, 1999 and December 13, 1999.
